WOODLAWN CEMETERY CLEARCUT

To the Editor:

I recently went to see the "improvements" at the Woodlawn Cemetery and am still in a state of shock. I am angry and frustrated at the brutal cutting of trees that has taken place. There is much I would like to say, but for now I will limit my comments to a few words.

I sincerely wish that the ones responsible for destroying the beauty of Woodlawn would be forced to bury their dearest loved ones in a paper company clearcut, because that is what they have made my parents' and grandparents' grave sites look like.

HIGH-STAKES BINGO MEETING

To the Editor:

On Oct. 6 at 6 p.m. there will be an informational meeting of concerned citizens regarding the proposed Indian-sponsored high-stakes gambling facility to be located on the West Bethel Road in Albany Township.

The meeting will be held at the Albany Town Hall at the junction of Main Street and Route 5 and 35 in Albany.

Members of the state, county and local officials have been invited to this meeting as well as the Indian representative in the Maine House of Representatives, Frederick Moore.

The residents of Albany Township and surrounding areas welcome representatives of the Passamaquoddy tribe promising this facility to the meeting so they may present their case to the people who will be most impacted by the proposed high-stakes gambling operation.

In the past, these promoters have ignored our invitation, but as this project becomes more imminent we hope they will have the courtesy to address us and our concerns.

This will be an open meeting and the public is urged to attend.

REAPING A HARVEST OF GAMBLING

To the Editor:

Once again the thought of a high-stakes bingo hall has people in the greater Bethel area concerned. The Passamaquoddy Indian Tribe has proposed erecting the hall on a 75-acre lot that the tribe owns in Albany. And, while many area residents are opposed to the hall, tribe representative Frederick Moore III is quoted in the Sun-Journal Sunday as saying that he "can't imagine why anyone would oppose the good."

It is the thought of the bingo hall and the economic boost it would bring to the area that might as well expand that to include the good, clean fun of a state lottery or off-track betting.

We live in a state where people readily travel great distances to indulge in casino gambling in places like Las Vegas, Reno and Atlantic City, or to gamble on some riverboat, or at a video poker game. We live in a state where Sundays have become just another day of the week, with retailers, schools and numerous other organizations hold their doors open during normal church hours. And now, people are surprised that this situation should come to pass, when it's just another step in the ongoing degradation of our nation's morals.

In his letter to the Gazette, the Apostle Paul wrote: "Whatever a man sows that shall he also reap."

What harvest of sin is appropriate?

TO BE CONTINUED--An effort to provide another practice field for teams at Telstar High School was stymied last weekend by weather and vandals. Volunteers used heavy equipment donated from Head Trucking, D.A. Wilson, Koskala Construction and Sunday River Ski Resort to truck rocks and install drainage ditches two weeks ago. The workers planned to grade the entire site this past weekend. But overnight on Friday, vandals stuffed hay into the exhaust pipe of the bulldozer and put mud into its hydraulic system. Repairs delayed start of the work Saturday, and wet conditions hampered it on Sunday. Organizers said they hope to complete the work next spring. The Telstar Track Boosters hope eventually to raise funds to build a track on the field. Here, volunteer Jody Brown grades the site.

THANKS FOR THE EFFORT

To the Editor:

Over the past two weekends, a group of community volunteers has tried to improve the field in back of Telstar and take a step toward someday having a track. While success was limited due to weather and vandalism to equipment, those who tried should be thanked for their efforts. Individuals who gave time and support include Gary Haman, Doug Wilson, David Head, Jeremy Head, Denny Wilson, Brian Waterhouse, David Page, Scott Hamilton, Ray Baker, Jody Brown, Steve Cross, Chip Smith, Randy Mills and Chris Lee. Companies which donated material and equipment include D.A. Wilson, Brooks Brothers, Head Trucking, Koskala Construction, Sunday River Ski Resort and Metco.

We would also like to specifically NOT thank the vandals for making more work for us. I hope that each time they see the incomplete field, they realize they made a negative contribution.

BUS GARAGE THANKS

To the Editor:

This is a very long overdue letter to the editor. I've always wanted to publicly thank all of the gentlemen at the school bus garage. They're exceedingly helpful, friendly and understanding of situations which occur. Through the years there were various times that schedules and routes needed to be changed. These gentlemen were there to help us out of their way to accommodate our situations. I'm sure there are many more people who appreciate and thank you for all the good work that you do.

State Debt Tree Blooming

By Mike Brown

It's a pretty sad sight if you don't realize it with all the money that's being poured down on them by the state and its two referendum side-steps, the state is also trying to lay another $51.9 million of debt on taxpayers.

There will be four bond issues -- and probably not all of them -- bond issues on November's ballot. They total $455 million in principal, but when the interest is added the total bond debt figures up to $600 million.

State debt is the stepchild of a back alley union between two self-interested partners, the bureaucracy and the legislature -- and term motivated by a willing politician.

Many citizens are presently in shock to the tune of $555 million in highway and general fund bond debt. The present fiscal year '97 budget alone commits $50,185,617 for general government debt service.

And the state bureaucracy, 117th Legislature and Gov. Angus King have apparently decided to saddle taxpayers with another $52 million in debt via four bond issues that they will try to media punch through the confused electorate by November 5.

The bond old salesmen consider the issues all motherhood and tasty budget pie.

Bond Issue 4 -- Three million claims, plus $427,500 interest, to the Department of Conservation's Bureau of Parks and Land for capital improvements which only lists two: a roof over Fort Knox and the replacement of Churchill Dam in the Allagash Wilderness Waterway.

Bond Issue 5 -- The Department of Environmental Protection, the state's 500-cop, $50 million environmental police force is touting a $16.5 million, plus $4,855,125 interest, bond which, among other probes, will spend $2.5 million on "investigation of threats to the public health." Katy, bar the door, here come more environmental cops.

Bond Issue 6 -- The Finance Authority of Maine wants $11 million, plus $3,236,750 interest, for small enterprise growth and agricultural marketing loans. Which means that FAME will issue capitalization funds through the sale of bonds. Of course, this quasi-government authority will issue the bonds through the "full faith and credit of the state." Which is nice cover if you can get it. The last time we looked, FAME had about $529 million in total guaranteed obligations.

Bond Issue 7 -- This old chestnut will never be cooked. The $10 million, plus $2,942,500 interest bond, will be sucked dry by the ubiquitous DEP of $8 million for water pollution control facilities to accept the federal unithelial carrot of matching funds. Oh, the Department of Human Services will get the DEP spill paddle of $2 million "to address health deficiencies in drinking water supplies." It might be cheaper to drink Poland Spring.

There are several points to consider about these stealth bond issues. One is that if state government, that's all, would shape up and operate fiscally competent many bond issues, like those above, would not be necessary because those problems would be solved within departmental biennial state budgets.

Another is that legislators consider bond issues as political points for the folks back home. What, pray Dingo, is the point of issuing a $16.5 million bond and paying an out-of-state bank or other financial institution $4.8 million interest over the next ten years provided by taxes on Maine citizens?

The state of Maine is about a $3.5-billion outfit which can't even live within its means as defined by an administration budget. Gov. King and others are saying that the budget deficit next fiscal year will be, variably, several million short of projections.

Perhaps Maine citizens could help the state out of its deficit orphanage by denying the bureaucracy-legislature administration another $52 million in illegitimate debt.

THIS WEEK AT THE
Moses Mason House

The annual "What's It" night will be the next monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society to be held on Oct. 3 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone with an unusual item from the past is encouraged to bring it for a "show and tell" session. Following that portion of the program, slides made during the past year of old photos that are now part of the society's collection will be shown. Anyone wishing to attend this meeting is cordially invited to do so.

On Oct. 6, the society will host the annual meeting of the Maine Olmsted Alliance, which this year will be held at the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room. In honor of the town's bicentenary and as a bicentennial project, the focus of the program will be on Woodland Cemetery. At 1 p.m., Society Director Stanley R. Howe will make a presentation on the history of the cemetery and will be joined by Joseph Delaney, co-chair of Portland's Evergreen Cemetery's Masterplanning Committee, who will report on the efforts in that city to plan for the future of the cemetery. Woodland Cemetery is currently undergoing a number of changes, and it is hoped that the presence of this group will help in the deliberations about its future. Howe will give a tour of the cemetery at 2 p.m. Both the meeting at the Dr. Moses Mason House and the cemetery tour are free and open to the public. Anyone interested in attending or participating is cordially invited to be present. The Olmsted Alliance focuses on the preservation and maintenance of parks and landscapes.

Briefly

Clark goes to Walkway of Stars

NASHVILLE, Tenn.--The father of Bethel resident Jewel Clark is scheduled to be inducted into the Walkway of Stars at the Country Music Hall of Fame Thursday. According to a report in the Maine Sunday Telegram, Raymond "Slim" Clark is only the third entertainer from New England to join the 272 performers and promoters in the walkway. Clark, who is 78 and lives in St. Albans, still performs at fairs and festivals. He is known primarily for his cowboy ballads. Jewel Clark, also a singer, has warm memories of her childhood. "Other kids' dads went to work at the factory or mill," she said. "My dad went to work at a radio station, or he'd get dressed up in cowboy clothes and sing to people. I'd see how happy he made them."

Bethel gets aviation grant

BETHEL--Bethel has been awarded a $88,500 federal grant to conduct an update to the community's airport master plan. The federal funds are needed to meet FAA requirements. The airport anticipates increasing its service to instrument flight rule capabilities. In addition to the federal funds, the state and town will each pay $4,925. The FAA requires an obstruction analysis be done prior to approving equipment installation. The master plan update will serve to meet the requirements. Selectmen accepted the grant at a special meeting Friday.

Mead buys Boise Cascade

RUMFORD--The Boise Cascade Corp. announced Monday it has reached an agreement to sell its Rumford pulp and paper mill to the Mead Corp. of Dayton, Ohio. Boise has owned the mill since 1976. The sale, expected to be closed by late November or early December, includes the Rumford mill, associated Boise sales, marketing and supporting businesses, 550,000 acres of timberland in Maine and another 120,000 acres in New Hampshire and Vermont. The sale must undergo federal review and regulatory approvals before being finalized. The new ownership will not affect the mill's 1,450 employees, according to Eli Karter, Mead executive vice president. "The mill workers are secure," he said.

Sign waiver granted

BETHEL--Charlie Reiss of Bethel Kitchen Designs was granted a waiver to the town's sign ordinance last week on grounds that conforming to the 12-square-foot maximum size would create a hardship. Reiss requested the Planning Board allow a 16-square-foot internally-lighted sign on the building at his Route 2 business in West Bethel. He said the sign is the smallest that his supplier, Formica Designs, offers for free to dealers. He also said motorists do not see the sign he has currently, which is mounted on a kiosk at the Tak-A-Radi building.

Curfew, other restrictions proposed

COLEBROOK, N.H.--Selectmen will consider a curfew for minors and four new ordinances regulating loitering, noise, and the use of bicycles, inline skates and skateboards. A report in the Coos County Democrat said many Main Street merchants are concerned about the safety of their customers while people are riding bikes or rollerblading on the sidewalk. The proposed curfew would prevent anyone under 18 from being on the streets between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m. during the school year, and 10 p.m. to 5 a.m. in the summer. There would be exemptions for holidays and other specific situations. The curfew and ordinances were proposed by the Police Department.

HEAP applications accepted

PARIS--Community Concepts, Inc., is now making appointments for the Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP). Applications will be taken at the office in South Paris (743-7716), and at the Chisholm Children's Center in Rumford (364-3721). Appointments are required. The application period is from Oct. 1 through April 30.

Heritage Park gets grant

BERLIN, N.H.--The Northern Forest Heritage Park has received notification it has been awarded a $15,000 grant from the U.S. Forest Service under the area-wide component of the Rural Development Through Forestry Program. The grant will be used to support work in areas including assessing the Heritage Park design and development concept, obtaining focus group input on future exhibits and learning opportunities, identifying the visitor base for sustainable operation, evaluation of phasing and cash flow demands, and obtaining preliminary assessments from specialists in architecture, landscape design, museum design, and Heritage-based tourism.

Passamaquoddy to buy Bluenose?

PORTLAND--The Passamaquoddy Indians say their proposed purchase of the Bluenose ferry could set the stage for a marine highway system for tourists that would link ports in Maine and the Canadian Maritimes. "This would really make Maine and Atlantic Canada an international destination," said John Miller of Eastport, a public relations consultant involved in the project. The tribe wants to replace the 412-foot vehicle ferry that operates on a seasonal basis between Bar Harbor and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, with a larger and more luxurious cruise ship. The Canadian-owned Bluenose has a small casino, and Miller said the tribe would continue to offer gambling on the ferry line. "It would definitely produce income," he said. "But it would not be the focus of their operation." The Passamaquoddy bid is expected to be one of several that the Canadian government will entertain next week as it moves toward privatizing the Marine Atlantic operation, which has been receiving an estimated $5 million a year in subsidies.

Iron Road acquires rail lines

MONTREAL--Iron Road Railways Inc. last week completed the acquisition of 244 additional miles of railway in Quebec and Vermont. The additional line links the company's existing system in Maine and eastern Canada directly to the Montreal area, as well as to northern Vermont. Two new subsidiary railroads were formed for the acquisition -- the Quebec Southern Railway and the Northern Vermont Railroad. Financial details of the sale were not available. The new rail lines were purchased from Canadian Pacific Railway Co.

Snow wars resume

KEYSTONE, Colo.--Both the Loveland and Keystone ski areas received several inches of snow last week and began making snow Thursday morning, area spokespersons said. Scott Fortner said Loveland picked up four inches of snow. Forecasters are predicting more. Temperatures are in the 20s, ideal for snowmaking, but the air is more humid than snow-makers would like. Fortner said the area began making snow about the same time last year. It opened Oct. 11. This year crews have new snow guns, which should make the job easier. Keystone spokeswoman Kerry Weismann said, "We fired up 70 snow guns" Thursday morning. Loveland and Keystone battle each year to become the first area to open. The last couple of years they've opened the same day.

Smoking stunts teenage growth

BOSTON--Smoking even a few cigarettes a day appears to stunt the growth of teen-agers' lungs, a Harvard University study has found. Previous research has shown that youngsters who smoke are more likely to have coughs, asthma and bronchitis. Now, experts have found that teenage smoking actually seems to make boys' and girls' lungs grow more slowly than usual, so they hold less air. "It was surprising that we could determine an effect of smoking on lung growth so early in the process," said Dr. Diane R. Gold. "Some would say that it takes many years to see an effect." The study found that smoking just five cigarettes a day appeared to reduce lung volume slightly, especially for girls. Among boys, smoking slowed lung growth by two-tenths of 1 percent annually.

"Hooliganism"?

Some readers have good naturedly questioned us about the use of the word "hooliganism" in a recent headline, asking if it is in fact an accepted English word.

We are happy to report that it is, if only for the past century. Our office dictionary, "The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language," lists "hooliganism," as do our two home dictionaries, "Webster's Third New International Dictionary" and "The Compact Edition of the Oxford English Dictionary."

All three give the meaning of the word as youthful ruffianism, and the OED offers the following example of its usage at the turn of the century: "... to strike at the very roots of truancy, juvenile crime and Hooliganism."

The word, of course, is not totally respectable -- for those of us of Hibernian origin "hooliganism" carries with it a whiff of political incorrectness. The OED suggests its origin, in the 1890s, was in reference to a "rowdy Irish family" by the name of Hooligan (thus the capitalization in the usage example above).

But we'd hate to be hypersensitive about such matters, because "hooliganism" and similar mildly disreputable words give our language much of its richness and color.

And, in fact, we doubt the very existence of the Hooligans, or any other such family of Irish ruffians. Doubtless they were a total fabrication of the British press, the same press which now routinely employs "hooliganism" when describing the rampages of its own soccer fans.

Doubtless.

We thank our readers for keeping us on our toes.

From the Bethel Police log:

Route 5 man arrested for assault

At 9:45 p.m. on Sept. 28 police received a report that a Route 5 resident had been assaulted by her husband. The officer spoke with the woman at the scene. She said he had been choking her. Another officer advised the husband had left the residence through the back door, with a weapon in his hands. The first officer also observed a weapon, and tried to get him to drop it. The subject then went to the location of a dog tied in the yard. Police were told by another man that the dog would attack if ordered to do so. Back-up was called, and officers from the Maine State Police and Sheriff's Department assisted. Lawrence Ward, 35, was arrested and transported to the Oxford County jail. He was charged with domestic assault.

Thursday, Sept. 26

At 6:30 a.m. an Oxford resident advised that two 12-volt batteries had been taken from a bucket loader behind the town garage. The estimated value was $80-100 each. No other damage was done to the loader.

At 11:15 p.m. Gould Academy security reported he observed two young males sitting behind the cafeteria. When he confronted them, they both fled into the woods. The security officer picked up a plastic bag containing six beer cans. Police did not make contact with the subjects, reported to be in their late teens or early 20s.

Friday, Sept. 27

At 1:35 a.m. a subject was stopped on Route 2 for speeding and unsafe lane usage (left of center). He was found to be under the influence. Cecil Hutchinson, 35, of Rumford was charged with OUI, possession of a usable amount of marijuana and speeding (55 miles per hour in a 35 m.p.h. zone).

Sunday, Sept. 29

At 9:39 a.m. Bethel Outdoor Adventures reported a canoe had been taken from the boat landing on Ferry Road. The complainant said the canoe, which had been rented, had been left at the landing to be picked up by an employee. When the complainant went to get the canoe the next morning, it was gone. It was valued at approximately $500.

At 2:08 p.m., police observed a car, operating with hazard lights on, turn onto Parkway from Bridge Street at a high rate of speed. It failed to stop at the Parkway/Route 26 stop sign and continued south on Route 26. Police stopped the vehicle near Telstar. A male driver said his wife had fallen and broken her arm. The officer told him it was no excuse to drive in that manner. The man said he was not going that fast. The officer said he would notify a rescue unit. The man replied he was going to Portland, returned to his car, and drove away at a high rate of speed. The officer was not able to regain contact because of traffic. Paris police were advised to watch for the vehicle to check on the welfare of the woman.

LURC's process, but LURC chairman Steve Wight of Newry said someone from the agency will be in attendance.

This will not be the first time residents have risen to protest the bingo-hall plan, which has been hanging over their heads for several years.

In January 1993 nearly 70 people turned out at a similar meeting, where the plan was met with nearly universal condemnation, primarily because residents feared its impact on the quiet, rural quality of life in the area.

At the time of that meeting no formal LURC application had been submitted, and the tribe then appeared to lose interest in the project.

Rumors that the plan had been revived surfaced again in April of last year, but were denied by tribal officials.

The tribe "is constantly reviewing its options," Moore said at the time, "but no decision has been made to do anything like that."

And tribal attorney Thomas Tureen of Portland characterized the speculation as March-hare madness, reportedly quipping: "Isn't this the time of year when rabbits start to turn color?"

The major reason for the apparent lack of interest last year was that the tribe still hoped to be able to build a full-scale gambling casino in Calais.

But an August 1995 decision by the U.S. District Court effectively dashed those hopes -- and this time around the tribe appears serious about pursuing its options in Albany.

LURC's Varney said she expected the rezoning application to be submitted as early as next month.

Ski train

when the link to Boston is made, he said.

Passenger train service was a key part of the original Bethel Station concept. Developer Heine Merrill said Monday he was optimistic that arrangements for some train service could be made, and he would still be able to advertise his development as having a train at the station.

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce relocated to the new station building at Bethel Station about a year ago. Executive director Robin Zanchuk said she hopes train service will continue in some form.

"It's drawn a lot of attention to Bethel. People have been calling all summer asking if passenger trains go through here," she said.

Track upgrade in spring?
Mike Murray, the director of the project to restore the Boston-Portland service, said he felt badly the ski train did not work out.

"I thought the train was a great idea, of course," Murray said. "Les Otten made a significant personal investment to make it happen. Unfortunately, I have to deal in the public section, with federal agencies and independent railroads, which don't move as fast. We have lagged behind Les Otten's initiative. I'm doing every damn thing I can to move on it in a timely fashion."

Murray is optimistic that work on the track upgrade will start next spring.

Progress has been held up by negotiations between Amtrak and the Springfield Terminal Co. regarding liability issues and maintenance-of-way payments to the railroad. Murray said.

"We're allowing them 30 days to resolve this at the table," he said Friday. "After that, I would ask Amtrak to take it to the Surface Transportation Board."

Murray said if it went that far, he would expect a finding in 90 to 180 days, with the result that "we could expect we can commence (track) rehabilitation next spring."

The project would upgrade 78 miles of track from Plaistow, N.H. to Portland to allow 60-mile-per-hour train travel. Additionally, Murray said, some segments of the line would be targeted for an upgrade allowing a speed of 79 m.p.h.

The total cost of the project would be $40 million, and Murray said the rail authority has sufficient funding for it.

READY TO SERVE YOU--Jacqui Morin recently opened Jacqui's Restaurant -- at the site of what used to be the Local Eatery -- in West Bethel. Jacqui's will serve an expanded menu and stay open longer hours. The restaurant is one of several business changes in the area recently. Jacqui and waiter Mark Tripp are shown here in the serving window of the kitchen.

EQUAL HOUSING

Bethel

by Phyllis Dock

Last week's article regarding the Bethel group's train ride from North Conway to Crawford

Natch and Fabian left out the names of Randall Bennett, who organized the trip, and his mother Bessie Bennett.

A flu shot clinic will be held at the Senior Citizens Meal Site at the Bethel Methodist Church on Nov. 4 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Dean Walker of Denver, Colo., drove to the Muchacho Reunion, from and Bugle Corp. and then visited his mother, Ginny Walker, in Bethel. From there he drove to Chicago to visit friends, then returned to Denver.

Cathy Hart of Bangor, Stanley Hart and Rodney and Geraldine Hart of Bethel attended the recent reunion for Norma Stanley at South Paris.

Stanley Howe, Randall Bennett and Ben Count of South Paris were in Bethel last Wednesday to see the statue of White Mountain National Park and to see the Fairview Museum. In the evening they attended a lecture on the White Mountains.

The lecture, which will be open until Nov. 3, includes paintings by N.C. Wyeth who illustrated children's books, as well as paintings by Andrew Wyeth and his son Jamie. In addition to White Mountain paintings, a major portion of the Farnsworth Museum's American Art holdings are on display at their new Maine Street Gallery, which was organized by the Danforth Museum in Framingham, Mass. Every painting but one is from a well-traveled private collection.

Of special interest to local art lovers are paintings by Joseph E. H. McKim, who once lived in the Sunday River area. Several of his paintings include the popular Sunday River Covered Bridge as well as scenic areas of North Newry.

Last Wednesday, Barbara Moore and Phyllis Dock rode to North Anson where they visited Barbara's daughter Carolyn (Kim) Yee and family. Other friends joined them, including Susan Veneire (Barbara's granddaughter) of Waterville and Carolyn Somers and Barbara Wright of Fairfield.

Eight-month-old Christie Veneire, Kim's granddaughter and Barbara's great-granddaughter, greeted everyone on her small "swivel" walker. Later, other family members joined the group for a delicious buffet lunch.

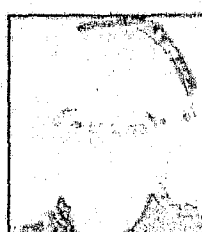

The Bethel Bridge Club met last week at the home of Barbara Lucas. Those attending were: Carolyn Brooks, Rita Davis, Barbara Douglass, Barbara Lucas, Marna McGinniss, Chris Otten, Sally Ramage and Verna Thayer.

Tony, Kathleen, Lora and Kyle Butters spent last week with his mother, Muriel Butters, and the Ojeda family.

During the week, Tony and family, accompanied by his mother, took a trip to the Bay of Pandy. On their way, they had lunch in Ellsworth with Bruce, Lottie, Adam, Aaron and Alex Stevens. Before returning home, they visited Jeff, Cathy, Justin and Jennifer Hastings. Gretchen Dock of Newtonville, Mass., visited her parents, the Norman Docks, over the weekend.

Jack and Lucy Nordahl had visitors from Cambridge, Mass. They were teachers that had taught with Lucy.

Daisy Coolidge came home from Maine Medical Center on Sept. 25 after a double bypass and valve replacement surgery. She says she feels so much better now.

Nina Mollicone has officially graduated from U.S.M. She received a master's degree in adult education. Now comes the job hunt.

Carolyn Grant of Winterport visited Leslie Noyes from Sept. 20 to 22.

Arthur and Betty Smith have returned from New York.

Upton

by Amy Gehring
Greetings folks! In last week's column I mentioned that our family took a trip to Montreal and that Matthew enjoyed the elevators in the city (not elevation). Sorry for the misunderstanding.

The leaves are just about to peak. For those leaf peepers near Andover, the East B Hill Road to Upton is now very pleasant to ride on with its new blacktop.

The sign-up sheet is up at the store for Amy and Jerry's 5th Annual Big Buck contest. Our goal this year is to have 60 contestants. For $5 you could win 70 percent of the pot for the heaviest buck, 15 percent for the first buck and 15 percent for the last buck. Good luck hunters!

Tom and Charlotte Gregg from Ruskin, Fla., were here visiting Upton. They had purchased the book "We Took To The Woods" by Louise Dickinson Rich while in Yellowstone and were sold on the area. Their next stop was Rangeley. Thank you, Yellowstone!

Trivia time. Mt. Washington is the highest peak in the northeast. Elevation (not elevation) of 6,288 feet.

Ed Bennett from Newry is considering a position on the Upton Planning Board.

North Newry

by Gil Seely

The Locke Mills Legion Hall was the scene of the joyful Golden Wedding Anniversary (50) of Beatrice and Frank Lowell on Sept. 21. Over 100 friends and relatives showed up, besides a bunch of children and grandchildren. The maid of honor, Barbara Phillips Burbank even made it for the festival. People came from as far away as Texas. Hors d'oeuvres were enjoyed during the afternoon. Amusing comments and a toast to the couple, wishing them long life and happiness, were made. A buffet of turkey, mashed potatoes, casseroles, buns, salads and coffee was enjoyed. Frank and Bea were married in Bethel Feb. 5, 1947, and lived where the Java House is now. They moved to the Branch Road where they built their present home.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seely, Doris Parent, Louise Tetley and Olive Anderson were at the Oxford Lane doing some bowling one day last week. On the overall score, Karlene ran off with top scores on the triples and singles with one trip of 110 and lacked only three pins to make a perfect 300. She had seven spares and one strike. Betsy had three spares and one strike. Gil had two spares and Doris and Louise each had one spare.

A gentle reminder of the Food Sale and Flea Market of the Newry Community Church Ladies Circle on Oct. 5 at the Grange Hall from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Bring your own tables at $5 each. Anyone who wishes to donate food and other articles like clothing or furniture for the church table can contact Sylvia Wight at 824-2262 or Sylvia Harrington at 824-2161. Thank you.

Too many zucchini? How about zucchini pork chops for two? In a heavy fry pan, put two pork chops, lightly brown them on both sides. Cut up a medium zucchini, one onion, and one or two carrots, mix and season with your favorite seasoning. Spoon on top of chops and add little water to the pan, cover and cook till chops are done. Maybe a little rice on the side? (This is my own recipe.)

I've always enjoyed Colista Morgan's column in the paper, she always enjoys and appreciates her surroundings, but now I can really empathize with her.

Living in this house with the marsh (I refuse to call it a bog) behind us, we get to see all kinds of wildlife and trees and plants we've not had the opportunity to enjoy before. Each day brings a different look as the seasons begin to change and roosters have nothing on ducks as they begin to gather for their trip. Each morning early, and I mean early, they start calling to one another. The loons have been mainly silent and I began to wonder if they had left when I heard one last night. What a pretty sight the marsh was, all silvery in the mist, with the moon, finally out from behind the earth's shadow, making everything glisten. I feel very fortunate to be able to live in such a pretty section of town. The biggest drawback is that I miss my neighbors. I've been very fortunate to have such nice ones. Of course I know they are still there to visit and have visit me, but it's not quite the same.

And speaking of neighbors, I noticed when I went to the other house that Val and Caroling Greene were up from Massachusetts. No doubt getting ready for another ski season, one more season to look forward to in this lovely place.

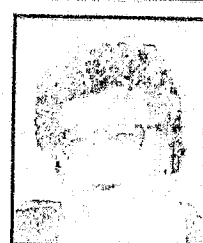

Andy and I visited the Common Ground Fair in Winsor last Friday, which is why there was no news in the paper. I'm glad though that we went Friday as it was crowded enough then. Andy was really not prepared for so many people, although I had tried to explain what it was like. He said he enjoyed it, but got pretty tired. I was rather annoyed at myself that I did not look at the schedule of events sooner than I did. (I always put for the animal shed first thing.) I missed Bill Shimamura, who entertained with his folk singing. We did hear the people directly after him, but I didn't know he had been there until I was talking with his mother on Sunday. I always enjoy Bill's singing and songs.

I do want to put that Augusta rotary in the same category as Skowhegan's. It is a nightmare, especially at rush hour. Surely there must be a better way than the way it is now. And all roads seem to lead through Augusta. There are very few places to cross the river except over the Augusta bridge. Anyhow, I'm not enthused with a lot of Maine routes. I may be a complainer by nature, because I'm not happy having Cross Street closed at the upper end. I resent having to go through the station project and/or having to cope with the traffic coming and going out that street onto the road connecting Route 26 and Route 2. Looks like trouble sooner or later to me.

The last two winners of the Greenstock fundraiser were Nancy Martens of West Bethel and Mike Rosenberg of Bryant Pond.

Maggie Ring, Denise Swan, Anita Hakala, Lorraine Mills and a guest whose name I didn't get, met at the fire station for the regular auxiliary meeting on Monday. Many were out sick or members of their families were. It was announced that $140 was given to each of the eight groups participating in the activities of the Greenstock Days. They hope to make this an annual event.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Angela Mowatt, granddaughter of Eddie and Lois Niemi, has been selected by the faculty of Windham High School to participate in the YouthLEAD program, which is sponsored by the Maine Development Foundation and open to sophomores from high schools throughout Maine. YouthLEAD provides young people opportunities to develop leadership skills while serving their communities. Fifteen schools and 180 students will participate in this two-year commitment. This foundation is interested in working with groups of students with a broad range of academic achievement, life experience and family background. Their common trait is leadership potential.

YouthLEAD grows out of desires expressed by business people, educators and government officials, for a broader cadre of citizens who possess the knowledge, skills and attitudes to lead this state into the next century. Congratulations on being chosen for this program, Angela. Good luck!

Twelve members of the Stoneham Volunteer Firemen met at the fire station on Tuesday, Sept. 24. Josh Smith won the eight cords of wood and John Mason won the $150 gift certificate at Woodman's. Five members voted to go to the Firemen's Muster Sunday at the Fryeburg Fair Grounds.

Rex Allen is currently at the Maine Medical Center in Portland and is to have heart surgery.

Carole and Albert Nelson, Jr. have two new additions to their family. I believe their names are "Bud" and "Misty." Good luck with your young ones.

The East Stoneham Church members met on Sept. 19 at the vestry to discuss business and reports were read and accepted as given. Next meeting will be Nov. 21, same place, same time. It was reported that on Oct. 6 the articles that did not get sold or given out at the thrift shop will be picked up by a large truck and transported to a Maine Veterans Shelter in Waterville.

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met at the East Stoneham Church on Sept. 25 for their regular monthly meeting. The meeting was opened by President Leslie Dean and pizza, chips, cold drink, ice cream, cake, etc. were served by the members before the meeting. This meeting was open to members who might like to join the organization. They can still join at any time in the future, just call me at 928-3096 and I will get information to you. Many people had other commitments and couldn't be there, but there's always time ahead. Like I tell my husband, "I'll do tomorrow what I didn't do today!" Sometimes it needs another day yet! But it eventually gets done.

Much business was discussed and attended to. It was voted to contribute a sum of money to the benefit supper, which is being put on for Charlie Merrill, who was hurt in a car accident recently. He is still at CMMC in Lewiston and probably would appreciate any cards or visits from his friends.

The next meeting is planned for Oct. 23 with Hildred Safford at her home in Oxford.

The Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade will be Nov. 30 in South Paris and Norway. The D.U.V. will again sell hot coffee, hot cocoa, cookies and brownies at L.F. Pike's store in Norway. There will be more information on this later.

On Thursday, Oct. 10, there will be a Harvest Supper at the East Stoneham Church from 5 to 6:30 p.m. This is a public supper with corned beef and all the good veggies, coffee and desserts. Sounds good, doesn't it?

Oct. 20 is the date Sunday School begins and will be at North Waterford Church. I believe it starts at 9:30 a.m. and is open to all children.

Indian storytellers at Gould

The Gould Academy Performing Arts Series will begin its season on Thursday, Oct. 3, at 7:30 p.m. with a performance of "First Things First: Native American Storytellers of New England," in Gould's Bingham Auditorium.

The five performers, who are drawn from the various Algonquian tribes of the northeastern woodlands, including the Passamaquoddy and Penobscot tribes of Maine, as well as the Abenaki, Narragansett and Wampanoag, will take turns telling stories from their tribal repertoires, bringing to life ancient mythologies and historical legends. The second half of the performance will focus on more contemporary stories, as the performers share family memories and personal experiences, interacting directly with each other and the audience. Throughout the evening the spoken narratives are interspersed with occasional songs and dances in a compelling and enlightening program.

Among Native Americans, oral narratives do much to preserve what life was like before contact with western civilization, to record the great changes that have taken place over the past few centuries, and to point the way into the future. "First Things First" will share the native side of the whole story with all the entertaining humor and dramatic suspense of American Indian story telling at its most engaging.

According to the tour's producers, at a time when many people are turning to American Indians for environmental insights, artistic inspiration, and spiritual guidance -- and often distorting or exploiting native cultures in the process -- "First Things First" provides an opportunity for audiences to meet New England tribal performers in person and to experience the unpretentious teachings of Native American storytelling tradition.

Tickets for "First Things First" are $6 for adults and $4 for students, and are available at the door the evening of the performance. For further information, please contact Vicki Rackliffe at (207) 824-3575.

ANDOVER BLOOD DRIVE

On Monday, Oct. 7, the Andover Fire Department is sponsoring a blood drive with the American Red Cross at the Andover Fire Station, 38 South Main Street, from 2 to 7 p.m. The collection goal is 50 "gifts" of blood.

In an effort to increase the blood base in the Andover area, any blood donor who brings a first-time donor to the blood drive will receive a T-shirt stating "Be twice as nice...Donate with a friend."

Blood is one of the most versatile of all medicines. It is used for accidents, shock, surgery, chemotherapy, hemophilia and many other conditions. "Because blood cannot be manufactured, its only source is a healthy, caring blood donor," said Leigh McFarlin of Donor Services for the American Red Cross Blood Services. "The life of blood is only 42 days," McFarlin added.

If you are 18 years or older, weigh at least 110 pounds, have not donated blood within the last 56 days (eight weeks) and in good health, you may be eligible to donate blood. There is no upper age limit and most medications are now acceptable.

It should be noted that 17-year-olds may be eligible to donate blood as well if the above eligibility requirements are met and they have a signed American Red Cross Consent form by a parent or legal guardian. Consent forms are available at the Andover Town Office.

Please donate and enjoy a movie and popcorn! Support your community. For more information or to schedule an appointment, contact Ken Dixon at 392-3171 or the American Red Cross at 1-800-482-0743.
